On MARCH 31, at the close of the day's business, there was the amount of $1.76 in the treasury of the State of Peansylvania, and not a cent more. "All present or accounted for" except misappropriations by the Democratic Legislature.

*Gov. Kelloon has reduced the State debt of Louisiana nearly $3,000,000 during | tions, will serve the same purpose, and his administration. At the same time the everywhere a loyal spirit is to be found, pamunicipal debt of New Orleans has in- triotic recollections of the past will encourcreased fully that amount under a Demo- | age the growth of a common pride in our cratic rule. No wonder it is a "dying city."

THE Boston Post calls attention to the fact that Mr. ex-Speaker Blaine took a ham sandwich and a glass of lager in New York the other day, but the waiter forgot to nominate him for President. It would have been as proper a nomination as the cut and dried affair perpetrated by Bingham in Philadelphia some time ago.

THE expense attendant upon the proposed conventions for the revision of the constitutions of the Southern States is a subject regarding which the Democrats have but little to say. Their ideas of economy seem to be restricted to cutting down the appropriations for the support of the courts in their efforts to punish crime and repress violence.

THE Madison (Wisconsin) State Journal refers to the fact that Dr. Newman received only $2,530 as salary and $2,100 for expenses during his two years' effective service of the Government while inspecting consul ates, and innocently asks: "Is there any "competent Democratic minister who "would be likely to do the work as well at "lower figures?"

THE Portland Press remarks that the people do not purpose to allow the Democrats to get into power for fear they will 'demand payment for Southern slaves,' It evidently has not forgotten the infamous proposition of Mr. R. M. T. Hunter, but it should also remember that something should be done to protect those Southern slaves in their right to vote now that the Republican party has made citizens of them.

THE remark was frequent yesterday that the patriotic ardor of the "embattled farmers' must have been very warm to have kept them from freezing at Lexing- PROPOSALS FOR DREDGING. ton and Concord one bundred years ago, unless the seasons have materially changed since then. It is certain that this cold weather is almost without precedent at this period of the year. The only cause for congratulation which it affords is that the organ grinders have been deceived. But the boys who wait for the marble-playing the boys who wait for the marble-playing season to begin, who does not sympathize with them?

THE Richmond Enquirer calls attention to the fact that we omitted, a few days ago, to give Governor Walker credit for having embraced the North in his proposition that the General Government shall assume the indebtedness of the States of the Union. We remember that the condition precedent is the adoption of a constitutional amendment which requires the concurrence of three fourths of the State Legislatures ; but we also remember that the idea was first broached for the especial benefit of the Southern States. The argument in behalf of the proposition was that those States had been impoverished by the war, and the offer to include the Northern States was a mere "tub thrown to the whale," a catchpenny attempt, in fact, to attract Northern

IT SEEMS that Wiltz, who was defeated as a candidate for Speaker of the lower House of the Louisiana Legislature, is not inclined to submit gracefully. He has a following of seventeen members, who join with him in denouncing everybody con nected with the Republican party as respon sible for all the ills that Louisiana Democratic human flesh is heir to. This is as we expected. There was cheating on both sides when the present Legislature was elected, and instead of following the wellknown Democratic example of accepting "our side" in a blind way, the Republican majority in Congress provided that a compromise should be tendered, which virtually gives the Opposition the control of affairs. It is against this compromise that Wiltz and his fellow-malcontents protest. The result of their bad faith will soon be come apparent in a renewal of disquiet, and the Democracy will proceed as usual, with brazen falsehood, to accuse the Administration as responsible. In this the leading incidents of the political history of the South since the war will be repeated. The Democrats have always been guilty of provoking disorder, as they have been guilty of condoning murder, and terrorism. all of which they have charged upon the Republicans. But the people are not

SPORADIC CELEBRATIONS.

And now Rhode Island claims it. The first blow was struck, and the first blood of the American Revolution was spilled. according to 'Arnold's History of Rhode Island, at the capture and burning of the British vessel-of war Gaspee, in Narragansett Bay, June 10, 1772. The description of the affair shows that the captain of the Gaspee interfered seriously with the commerce of Rhode Island, and for the purpose of putting an end to this, a number of Rhede Islanders, under the inspiration of one "John Brown"-historic name-resolved upon her capture and destruction. In the successful effort to accomplish this result, one John Bucklin fired a shot from an old fashioned flint-lock musket, which took effect about the centre of the body of the British captain-Duddingston by name-and gave him a stomach-ache, from which he never recovered, although he did survive to escape punishment by courtmartial for the loss of his vessel. Although rewards were offered for the discovery of the perpetrators, and a court of inquiry was convened to investigate the affair, the colonists were so loyal to each other that the attempt failed, the only testimony against the "rebels" being that of a slave, whose testimony was successfully impeached." Now, let us banish the lines-

"Where once the embattled farmers stood And fired the shot heard round the world," which, it must be admitted, are in danger of becoming as much of a nuisance as "Beautiful Snow" or "Gentle Spring."

"The day we celebrate," it will be seen, is becoming a little mixed; but the motives which prompt the celebration remain the same. Boston harbor, Narragansett bay, the burning of the Peggy Stuart, the rout at Lexington, the stand at Concord, and the Declaration at Mecklenberg, were one and all premonitory incidents which culminated in the grand demonstration at Philadelphia in 1776, where the immortal Declaration of American Independence was ratified by all the Colonies, and where Independence bell rung forth the freedom of a great country as it tolled the death of British tyranny. We may therefore talk and rend of these sporadic affairs, and prepare curselves by their celebration, as our forefathers did by participation in them, for the greatest event of the century, the celebration of the Fourth of July at Philadelphia

The heart of every true American beats faster and throbs with a sterner loyalty as these forgotten facts are unearthed to give us a fresh knowledge of the impulses, trials, deprivations and daring deeds of the founders of American liberty. The student of American history is astonished at each turn of the pages relating to this long-neglected period, and as he learns that the United Colonies were gradually brought up to that unanimity of purpose in opposition to the mother country, which was necessary to a seccessful issue of their Revolution, he cannot fail to acknowledge the plain hand of divine Providence directing the fate of a great people. The incidents of to-day, when gentle peace inspires our demonstracommon country.

Mecklenburg.

From the Albany Evening Journal, I Mecklenburg, North Carolina, is to cele-brate a centennial on the 20th of May. The guns of Lexington and Concord, which were heard round the world, were also heard in Meckleaburg. So the Meckleaburgers met a month after those cuns were fired, and resolved to throw off the British yoke. It was a little local outburst of independence highly commendable. The fact of the celebration is all right. The manner, if reports are correct, all right. The manner, if reports are correct, will be all wrong. The announcement is made that it is to be a grand pow-wow of the Confederates. The "lost cause" is to toot its born once more. Ex-rebel Gen. Hill runs the committee of arrangements, and when some one proposed to invite the President he fairly frothed and foamed with rage. Under his dictation the committee "wash their hands clean of this thing." of inviting the President, and declare that they are "unwilling to bend nd declare that they are "unwilling to ben the knee to the tyrant," to the "drunken de-bauchee," and so on to the end of this fresh rebel manifesto. Mocklenburg can celebrate; Hill and other blatant ex-rebels in fact and real releis at heart can continue to splt out fire and brimstone; Northern Democrats may excuse and extenuate, but thinking men will keep an eye upon these things.
